

Anarchists Asking for “Papers”

I would love to watch a supposed Murican “anarchist” who condones “closed borders” explain his philosophical “principles” to someone who happened to be born in Mexico.

“Well, you see, I oppose the initiation of violence ... except against you, because of where you were born, if you try to walk across a line made up by politicians. But I believe in freedom! Really! I believe you own yourself ... although you need politicians’ written permission to be anywhere near my neighborhood.”

Among all the other examples of hypocrisy in the mind of “closed-border” “anarchists” is the bizarre fact that you can’t even know the moral way to treat another human being ... without first asking to see his papers.

Please stop pretending to be an anarchist if you think that.
