

Bad Behavior

Nobody asked but ...

Voluntaryists often cite the condition that minions can get away with murder by wearing a uniform and/or a badge. I think this cognitive dissonance comes about because of the spade work of higher officials. The behavior of POTUS and other high muckety mucks is, far too frequently, atrocious. They do these deeds within the law, skirting the law, on the unstable edge of the law, and outside the law. No wonder minions think they can place their priorities ahead of common decency.

— Kilgore Forelle