

Black Vehicles with Black Windows

Nobody asked but ...

On the way to my teaching assignment this morning, I was listening to the podcast, No Agenda, with Adam Curry and John C. Dvorak. They were talking about one of my pet peeves — Blackwateresque Black mega-vehicles with Black-tinted windows. They likened the increasing presence of these vehicles to the explosion of camo outfits in the children's department of clothing stores. America is being lulled into the military mindset. It is not really macho, it is not empowering, it is not assertive — it IS aggressive.

Kilgore