

Discussion Groups

I've canned the Everything-Voluntary Facebook discussion group, and instead created a page with links to active groups for each topic. They've been a great source of information for me and are already well established. Why re-invent the wheel? Check it out here!