

Election Boilerplate

What do I think about today's election? Basically the same thing I think about every election. For starters: I hate politics, both popular ideologies are insipid, the main parties' differences are primarily rhetorical, politicians are evil, voters are irrational, and democracy is rule by demagogues.

P.S. Whether or not you choose to participate, I strongly advise you to build a Beautiful Bubble.