

Larry Reed Endorses New Booklet

My first endorsement for Toward a Free Society: A Short Guide on Building a Culture of Liberty has just come in:

“Skyler Collins’ thought-provoking essay brings to mind the voluntaryist writings of such luminaries as Auberon Herbert and Herbert Spencer. Whether you embrace a minimal state or no state because you believe in individual liberty, or you are not yet liberated from the delusion that the state should micro-manage society, you will find abundant wisdom in the pages of this little volume” – Lawrence W. Reed, President, Foundation for Economic Education.
