

Liberty is Not About Politics

Politics is a distraction from the message and the philosophy of Liberty. Ultimately, it doesn't matter what politicians do or don't do. It doesn't matter which figurehead gets replaced by which lackey. Politics is the bread and circuses of our time. It's the grand gladiatorial combat designed to divert people's attention from the machinery of statism which is systematically enslaving them.

Liberty is not about politics; it's about radical individualism (aka self-ownership) and the wholesale rejection of collectivism in all its forms—including nationalism, patriotism, globalism, communism, socialism, fascism, racism, and statism.
