

Magical Thinking

Nobody asked but ...

I couldn't refrain from sharing this brilliant poem from my Facebook friend, Troy Camplin.

Magical Thinking

*I do believe I ought to bang my head
Against this wall again-I do believe
This time will work-I'll bring alive the dead
A final failing time-yet none will grieve
When this penultimate attempt will fail-
Just three or four times more and nature will Give in, her laws will break, I will prevail-
And when I do I'll send nature the bill.*

*I'm certain that, unaided, I can fly-
I won't give in to nature's tyranny-
I know my good intentions will ensure
This leap success-I know I'll never die,
That I can overcome mere gravity-
I know this since I know my heart is pure.*

— Troy Camplin

— forwarded to you by Kilgore Forelle