

On Politicians

What the 2016 US election, Donald Trump sexual assault and Hillary Clinton email scandals should convince everybody of is the fact that politicians are just as flawed as every other human being on planet Earth. That these hubristic rulemongers have any real aptitude or wisdom to govern other people is beyond laughable. The idea is deplorable. Nobody, not anybody, can or should do that job. Simply put, the job shouldn't even exist. And that's today's two cents.