

Regulation is the Moon

Nobody asked but ...

The free market is the Sun, while regulation is the Moon. From time to time, the smaller, closer body may shield the very much larger (by orders of magnitude), further body from our view. But for a few moments, we see the world as upside down, out of reconciliation. The raindrop becomes an ocean that would threaten the Earth with a flood.

— Kilgore Forelle