

Rep(rehensible) Eric Swalwell

That congressvermin who said that if you think you should keep your guns to fight tyranny, it would be a short fight because the government has nukes...

Yeah, he was probably “joking”. So? It shows how he “thinks”. It shows him as a government supremacist at the very least.

If the tables had been turned and someone joked about nuking congress- or his personal house while he and his family (if any) were in it- do you think he would have found it hilarious? Do you think he would have accepted it as nothing but a sarcastic joke?

You know he wouldn't have. His life is too valuable to take the chance. You are the expendable one to this parasite.

Anti-gun bigots are disgusting. That one would sarcastically “joke” about nuking Americans just because we value our natural rights over his mass-murderous opinions shows this without a doubt.
