

Social Entropy

I am a seeker. I just want to see the truth. Whatever it is. Wherever it leads.

And the truth I have discovered includes this:

Any society based on anything other than zero archation will degrade over time.

It will continue to get worse and worse.

Each cheat- every act of archation- will chip away a bit of trust.

It will make the next social interaction a little more difficult.

It will make it easier to justify the next cheat.

The evidence is all around you.

Just observe and you'll see it.