The Fear of Terror

Guest post by Kyle Blizzard.

"Terrorism," the word that will make anyone OK with whatever the government does to anybody. "Terrorist" no longer applies to just "brown people". It's now everyone–your friends, your family–who may not like everything the government does. It's considered suspicious by law enforcement to take photos in public in Los Angeles. I'm not even kidding. The State wants you to live in fear, because they know, in that fear, you will cling to them more tightly.

Read the full thing »