

Unapologetic Anarchism

Editor's Pick. Written by Alex R. Knight, III.

The most obvious question that never gets asked is: “What, pray tell, makes you believe that those who call themselves government – those whose very livings are derived from stolen and extorted loot (taxes), are themselves more heavily armed than anyone else, and are responsible for every war that has ever been waged in history — are in fact more responsible, moral, judicious and accountable than anyone else? In fact, doesn't 7,000 plus years of human history scream that the precise opposite is true?”

Read the full thing at Strike-The-Root.com »