

All Wealth is Ultimately Spiritual, as is All Poverty

Prosperity treated as a gift to be nurtured becomes a blessing. Prosperity treated as a right to be enjoyed becomes a curse. The former attitude turns vibrant cultures into thriving civilizations. The latter turns stagnant civilizations into decaying ruins. It is the clearest physical manifestation of the fact that all wealth is ultimately spiritual, as is all poverty.