

15 Ways You Are Probably Wrong About Anarchists, Agorists, and Voluntaryists

Editor's Pick. Written by Kyle Bennett.

1. We don't want to turn your government anarchist. That makes as much sense as accusing you of wanting to dye your hair "bald".
2. We get it, there's no historical precedent. That tends to be a common problem with new things, yet new things are created every day.
3. We don't expect utopia. If you think that's what we're after, maybe it says more about your idea of the function of government than ours.

Read the full thing on Facebook »