

Another Criminal Traffic Dismissal – Prosecution Withdraws Complaint

Congrats to William for defending himself and getting a criminal complaint kicked out. Instead of providing the evidence to support their claims, the prosecution dropped the charges. If they had evidence proving their claims of jurisdiction and the laws were violated, then they would have provided the evidence.

William filed the motion to dismiss I have available here; the basic argument is the prosecution has failed to meet even a prima facie burden of proof on personal and subject matter jurisdiction. Not being able to provide any evidence proving their claim the laws apply, the prosecution withdrew.
