

Another Ticket Dismissed on Appeal

A listener got a traffic ticket kicked out on appeal in Delaware. Yes, it was a parking ticket, but we're making the same challenges we do in more serious charges, such as personal jurisdiction.

Everything was just ignored at the trial, this is typical with parking tickets. So an appeal was done and the motion to dismiss was again filed. As you can see below, the ticket was voided.

So congrats for standing up to these predators and thanks for sending me the proof.

