

The Association for Teaching Kids Economics (35m) – Episode 083

Episode 083 welcomes Thomas Bogle back to the podcast to talk about his new organization, “The Association for Teaching Kids Economics”. Topics include: The Tuttle Twins by Connor Boyack, illustrated by Elijah Stanfield, teaching economics, liberty, and free markets to kids, why teachers fear teaching economics in primary school, “mainline” economics, Leonard Read’s “I, Pencil” and The Lego Movie, Tom’s search for sponsors and personnel in each state to aid introduction and expansion, Socratic method based curriculum, CinemaSins, and the classroom ambassadors program.

Listen to Episode 083 (35m, mp3, 64kbps)

Show Notes

Tom Bogle, Facebook Profile

Episode 069, “Thomas’ Journey, Free Market Educators, Praxis”

The Association for Teaching Kids Economics, Website, Facebook Page, Twitter

The Tuttle Twins, Website, Facebook Page, Twitter

Leonard Read, “I, Pencil” (Video Documentary)

CinemaSins, Website, YouTube Channel

Subscribe

via RSS here.

via iTunes here.

via Stitcher here.

via blubrry here.

via Player.FM here.