

Building a Fort is Anti-Social

Or rather, anti-socialism. Children these days must be either in school being regimented and indoctrinated or inside at home playing war-themed video games. Anything else, like building a fort in the woods with friends, is too individualistic, too creative, too educational, ie. is contrary to the designs of the state.

Skyler.