

Deflection

Nobody asked but ...

It is never OK to tinker with the election process, but no combination of things done by not-POTUS will dot a single “i” or rejuvenate a specific uncrossed “t” in the career of POTUS. The deflection does not look good. Why is there deflection? Demanding that the DOJ redouble its efforts on a dead horse does not change the equation. Each candidate is 100% responsible for the conduct of a clean campaign. If the losing candidate did a wrong, please take her down. If the winning candidate did a wong, please take him down. Crimes are not offsettable.

— Kilgore Forelle