

Early Customers Are Heroic

Every transaction has two sides.

Every business is based on transactions.

That means for every awesome business success that grew from nothing, there are two parties that made it possible.

The founders and the first customers.

Early adopters are no less heroic and integral to breakthrough successes than founders.

Here's to the first customers of every big, bold, crazy idea!