

Emily's Journey, Schooling Deficiencies, Human Conation, & Consulting Business (1h1m) – Episode 425

Episode 425 welcomes Emily Melious to the podcast to chat with Skyler on the following topics: why school only works for 20% of kids, and leaves out the rest; the trouble that gifted kids have in school; learning only how to do things according to someone's "correct" way and the limits this places on kids; schooling versus human nature and creativity; the importance of school grades in the business world; the trilogy of mind: cognition (skills/knowledge), affection (emotions/motivations/personality), and conation (volition/desire); Kolbe Corp. and the way they assess a person's trilogy of mind; her history learning about herself and advocating for her strengths personally and professionally; why she's always focused on her capabilities instead of her immutable characteristics like gender; the limits on usefulness of personality tests; the challenges that 2020 has brought to her consulting business LaunchConsulting.io; and more.

Profile: LinkedIn

Business: LaunchConsulting.io

Podcast: "Mothers of Misfits" by Emily Melious

Listen to Episode 425 (1h1m, mp3, 64kbps)

Subscribe via RSS here, or in any podcast app by searching for "everything voluntary". Support the podcast at Patreon.com/evc.

Other podcasts: "Thinking & Doing", "Voluntaryist Voices"

Referral links: Tom Wood's Liberty Classroom, Ron Paul's Homeschool Curriculum, Amazon Shopping