

Generosity is a Permissionless Enterprise

You don't need to have a credential in order to meet a human need.

"Love thy neighbor as thyself" was not prefaced with "if you have the proper certification."

You don't have to go through an audition, an application process, or an adjudication committee to find problems that need solutions.

Generosity is a permissionless enterprise.

You may not have a degree, but you always have something to offer.
