

Give Yourself a Gift

Nobody asked but ...

I can think of no better gift to give yourself than to listen to Judge Andrew Napolitano delivering his address entitled Nation of Sheep. It is presented as part of EVC's excellent Voluntaryist Voices podcast.

I know this is a busy season, but please make the time.

Be happy that there is someone, namely Andrew Napolitano, who is looking out for himself and us. The trouble is that there are hordes of sycophants who are looking out for involuntary collectives, not themselves or free individuals, else they wouldn't be sycophants.

My theory has always been about the math, we can only spend 24/7/365 being vigilant about our rights while there are millions of courtiers looking to screw you out of yours. Good luck. Use part of your 24/7/365 to at least celebrate the rare occasion of Judge Nap.
