

It's the Principle

When we find ourselves deciding on a course of action because of the “principle of it” – take a moment and ponder this question:

What principle is it I am sticking to?

My experience is that sometimes (if not most times) the principle that I am sticking to is the one – “I am right”.

Musing Fool.