

Karma? Nah

I don't believe in karma nor anti-karma (what some express as "no good deed goes unpunished"). This frees me to do the right thing for the right reasons without the taint of selfishness or unnecessary fear.

I'm not expecting reward or punishment for doing the right thing, and if I do the wrong thing any punishment is deserved. It's somewhat liberating.