

Marriage: Rendering Unto Caesar That Which Is God's

Written by Connor Boyack for his personal blog.

Because of a desire by the state to control procreation and keep the white race pure, licenses were increasingly required throughout the 19th century, and by the early 20th century every state in the Union had adopted license requirements to allow a couple to marry, even if both parties were white.

Read the full thing »