

On Presidents Day

Happy Presidents Day! And by “Presidents” I mean the presidents of businesses in “the voluntary sector” wielding social power to improve the lot of mankind. They’re entrepreneurs and innovators. They live or die on the basis of customer satisfaction, on making customer’s live better, easier, happier, and more fulfilled. Unlike their coercive sector counterparts, they command armies of peace and prosperity. They’re harbingers of progress, true progress. I celebrate them this day. And that’s today’s two cents.

Skyler.
