

On the Reefer Bowl

What a glorious opportunity we who advocate drug freedom have these next two weeks. The Denver Broncos, of Colorado, will face the Seattle Seahawks, of Washington, on Sunday, February 2nd in the 48th Super Bowl of the National Football League. Because these teams are from the first two States to legalize the possession of marijuana, many have taken to nicknaming this game the Reefer Bowl. I proudly count myself among them. I will henceforth be referring to Super Bowl 48 as the Reefer Bowl in order to spread awareness for the cause of drug freedom. It's high time (no pun intended) the failed and evil War on Drugs is put to an end. Join me, won't you? And that's today's two cents.

Skyler.
