

Podcast Feedback

I received this feedback on the EVC Podcast:

“Skyler,

Thank you for the consistency with the podcast. We are new parents, but hope that we are light years ahead of where we would have been had we not followed this philosophy with as much intellectual honesty as possible. We are starting now as peaceful parents. We are in love with unschooling. Your resources page has helped so much. I think your Parenting 101 series has nudged my wife more toward complete voluntaryism than all of my 4 years of quoting of Mises, Rothbard, Rose, Tucker and the rest of the cadre. Thank you for that. And personally, I love the interviews. I’ve posted, bantered, liked, and shared so much from these people over the past few years. But until listening to them tell their stories, I didn’t appreciate them for their experiences. I didn’t feel. I didn’t empathize. We all go through this violent moulting process. I’ve said so many times that becoming a voluntaryist was the most painful experience of my life. On the other side, many of us find ourselves happy and awake, but utterly alone. Having shed the skin, we see ourselves differently. We see everyone differently. Many of us long for the friendships of times past. Those interviews help with that loneliness. They help me feel more connected to others within this movement. I simply want to say thank you most of all for that.

Branden E.”

This makes it all worth it.

Skyler.