

Re: The Socialization of Children

Writes Justin Bell in response to this post,

“I absolutely believe in raising children as small adults. I have some friends who do exactly that and their children are wonderful. However, when I leave the house later today to interact with ‘adults’ I’ll be treating them like overgrown children – because that is how they act.”

Indeed.