

Shopping

Nobody asked but ...

If your life was the equivalent of a trip to the supermarket, voting would be like choosing a shopping cart. The best you could hope for would be a half-way workable set of wheels, without too much suspect trash in the bottom of the basket.

Kilgore