

Snow Day

Nobody asked but ..

We are getting our second visit from the Alberta Clipper this new year. The classes I conduct at the local community college are cancelled.

— time out for a nap —

I checked the websites of my alma maters. Kentucky State University was closed and, mirabile dictu, so was the University of Kentucky.

Then I began to think, in free association, about universities.

It's no wonder that youth think they know everything, their exposure to adults is to the overgrown children who administer schools.

Same thing with professors.
