

Statist Logic

We can't eliminate schools or no one would get educated.

We can't eliminate government or warlords would take over and rob and imprison and murder.

We can't eliminate taxation or there would be no one to protect your property from thieves.

We can't eliminate rape gangs or humans wouldn't procreate.

We can't eliminate arson or people would freeze to death in the winter.

And there is the statist argument in its usual form, along with a couple of its unethical, irrational clones.