

Systems

Nobody asked but ...

26 Pictures Will Make You Re-Evaluate Your Entire Existence

It all comes back down to you. You must originate, develop, operate and maintain your existence, all of your principles, your moral codes, your ethics, your education. Everything in the universe is a unique sub-system, somewhat alike to other things of its type but somewhat different (differentiated, individuated). This is immutable — things are different. This is anarchy, unless you can name a ruler who runs all of this.

Kilgore