

The Biggest War-Mongering Murder Machines

Those who whine about how they just want an “ethno-nation” of their own, with their fellow super-duper-white people, are never being honest about their motives or their intentions.

Aside from how ludicrous it is to pretend that “Western culture” is synonymous with a truly free society (read a history book, dude), the idea that somehow pro-liberty philosophy can only be understood or realized by white people is just idiotic.

Most of the 300,000,000+ people in this country are white, and almost all of them are statist, and many of them are outright socialists. To whine about what percentage of this or that demographic category advocate freedom is stupid. If you want a free society, what could possibly be a rational excuse for trying to keep some black advocate of freedom out? Because you think a higher percentage of his relatives might not advocate freedom?

The “ethno-nation” bullshit has everything to do with racism and xenophobia, and nothing to do with freedom. What makes this stupidly obvious is that those who are whining about having their own “ethno-state” are advocating state aggression to achieve it. Literally, they are arguing, “We neeeeeeeeeed to have authoritarian violence used against millions of people who haven’t done anything... because those are the type of people who advocate authoritarian violence!”

And by the way, there is no one American or “Western” culture. It is a giant hodge-podge of a zillion viewpoints and opinions, many of them idiotic and/or evil. And given that “Western” ruling classes are currently the biggest war-mongering murder machines in the world, it’s beyond absurd to argue, “We Westerners need to keep out all those people who would support big government and try to force their views on us!”

I don’t give a crap what random set of arbitrary crap people want to call a “culture.” I care only about people leaving other people in peace. And the “ethno-nation” doofuses fail that simple test. Maybe they should be physically removed.