

There Is No Teapot Too Small to Have a Tempest

Nobody asked but ...

All that is needed is collectivism. Read this story in the Lexington, KY Herald. I have no problem with voluntary homeowners associations per se, at least until some member or members take it upon their bad, authoritarian selves to pull this kind of scam. I can see denying Ms. Boak the benefits of membership (such as they may be — they should be quite sumptuous at $48 per annum). This is at best a confiscation of property without due process, but at worst, and likely so, predation with malice of forethought. Too bad that it falls to government, seemingly, to try to remedy this situation, perhaps too late for Ms. Boak.
