

Voluntaryism is Stupid

Nobody asked but ...

Today I was searching the Web for a good definition of voluntaryism (finding several) to create a link in my friend Verbal Vol's column for this week. The search engine performed admirably until I saw its suggested other searches in the right margin. Number 1 on the list was "Voluntaryism is Stupid." I could not resist checking it out, at Tumblr. But I quickly learned that the site contained no evidence of the banner, and even cited Rand Paul. The page should have been entitled "Stupidity is Voluntary," but since I am a devout voluntaryist myself, I refrained from rising to the bait.
