

Where in the World Is The Ukraine?

Nobody asked but ...

Actually, somebody did ask, and an excellent facebook friend posted "I like this: Only 1 in 6 Americans surveyed could find the Ukraine on a map of the world." There is somewhat of a reason why we don't know where the Ukraine lies. FDR and Churchill blithely tossed it into the oubliette of Stalin at the Yalta Conference in 1945. There ensued a half-century during which nobody in the West was given any information about which they could give a damn. It was all propaganda. Our government became so hooked on the narcotic bliss of propaganda that it continues, and burgeons. Today, we have a POTUS who received an award for transparency in a secret meeting! Today, we have had an unbroken string of POTUS and their minions who have let us know nothing about the world that is true.
