

Will Grigg, RIP

Nobody asked but ...

It was with the greatest sadness that I read Sheldon Richman's farewell to Will Grigg this morning. I, as with Sheldon, had never personally met Will, but the world of voluntaryists and I have lost a great friend. He has left a legacy, though. Go to the Libertarian Institute web site, and read or view or listen to Will. Every writing, every podcast I do from now on, as in the past, will be heavily influenced by what I learned from Will. It is hard to decide which is greater, my grief or my gratitude that he lived and shared.

"May we send the State back to the Hell that spawned it." — Will Grigg
