

Words Poorly Used #70 — Communication

You know, it occurred to me today that if we (all of us humans) weren't so poor at communication we would never learn anything new, we would be stuck on the same page all the time.

kilgore